Canola

- Canola had another big week on the futures market. Monday and Tuesday seen a rise of about $100/mt, before coming down on Wednesday
- $20+ canola is now available off the combine... I understand with the drought that this won't appeal to many, but I am just trying to keep our farmers informed on the markets.

Wheat

- The wheat market is up over $.65 this week.
- Long shot... If you have any #1 higher pro durum, milling soft white or CWRS give Scott a call for competitive pricing.

Pulses

- We may have some opportunity to move more green peas but we need those samples and lets set some targets!

Feed

- Next two weeks will determine everything, crop or not crop. If it isn't too late already.
- We are looking for all feeds

Dashboard Chronicle

- Humpty Dumpty took a great fall. All the kings horses and men couldn't fix it. By the way Humpty Dumpty was a cannon and not a giant egg who gained consciousness but that's a topic for another day. Anyway, we don't need horses. Or men. We need rain and that will fix a lot of concerns. I know it's too late for some problems. But it's never too late.
- Looking for rye. Consumers of rye are easy to find. Growers of rye is more challenging.
