

Price Trends

Canola →

Wheat →

Pulses →

Feed →

Marketing Minute

CASH BIDS

CWRS No. 1 > 13.5 (Oct)	$6.20
Canola No. 1	$10.67
Yellow Peas	$6.75
Green Peas	$7.00
CPSR No. 2 > 11.5	$5.09
CWSW No. 2 < 10.0	$5.00
Red Feed Wheat	$4.05
White Feed Wheat	$4.50
Feed Barley	$3.55
Malt Barley	NO BID

Canola

- This week we have seen some big price moves in Canola futures, moving from mid 10's to into the 11's to back into the 10s today.
- Canola harvest is underway, initial reports are good for yield in the area, but will take more acres going through the combine to get a better idea.
- The frost this week was widespread, and the effects are still to be determined, prices reacted upwards to the frost but have since moved back.
- We have great Canola movement coming up this fall – call for pricing ideas and any special requirements we can help with!

Wheat

- Wheat production is expected to decline slightly for 2020 while demand is expected to increase due to larger amounts of food use.
- Saskatchewan wheat harvest is considered 19% complete as of Aug 31/20
- Yields are varying as well as protein and grade. As of right now we haven't seen enough to get a good handle on average grade and protein.

Pulses

- Barley in the fields appears to be doing very well but the market itself has quietened down from yearly harvest pressure.
- Feed wheat is holding steady and movement is being requested for months further out.
- Both feed barley and feed wheat pricing have declined quite a bit and will likely stay low until the supplies can be accurately determined.
- A heavier stock on feed barley is still expected so tight supplies are likely not going to move pricing upward.

Feed Markets

- Barley in the fields appears to be doing very well but the market itself has quietened down from yearly harvest pressure.
- Feed wheat is holding steady and movement is being requested for months further out.
- Both feed barley and feed wheat pricing have declined quite a bit and will likely stay low until the supplies can be accurately determined.
- A heavier stock on feed barley is still expected so tight supplies are likely not going to move pricing upward.

Dashboard Chronicles

- Harvest hasn't been a full blown circus as of yet but most farmers have picked off their pulses and are waiting for everything else to cure. The circus will be tomorrow. Or tomorrow after that.
- There was one real sobering reminder of what the weatherman can do as some places were hit with a deep frost but good harvest days lay ahead.

CONTACT DETAILS

Wheat
-Ashton Herle	306-210-7074
Canola
-Tim Hill	306-228-1262
Feed Grains & Pulses
-Nicole Squires	306-213-7249
Dashboard Chronicles
-Dan Feser	306-210-7405
Marketing Manager
-Eduardo Pina	306-210-8132

Disclaimer: The information in this report has been obtained from various sources believed to be reliable. North West Terminal Ltd. does not guarantee that information contained in this report is accurate or complete. Opinions expressed reflect personal judgment at this date and are subject to change without notice. The publisher and its agent or employees shall not be liable for any loss or damage suffered by any person as a result of reliance on any of the contents contained within these products, whether such loss or damage arises from negligence or misrepresentation or any act or omission of the publisher or its agents or employees. Trade in commodity futures and options carries substantial risk. Anyone considering any such strategy documented within is advised to consult a licensed commodity broker before executing.